

VACANCY – Production Operative

Department: Operations

Reports to: Team Leader

Purpose

Provide support in the production/assembly of precision engineering components to be used in the Medical industry.

JOB DESCRIPTION

- To operate, after suitable training and instruction, various items of equipment to manufacture precision engineering components.
- To ensure work station is set up and work is carried out in accordance with Standard Operating Procedure throughout production.
- To ensure products produced meet customer quality specification.
- Work to Standard procedures.
- To produce/support in the production assembly of precision engineering components meeting customer quality specification and within agreed timescales
- To ensure the quality of products or components meets both specification and the expectations of the subsequent operation, ensuring completed work is clearly identified and quantified
- To ensure all supervision is made aware of any concerns with components, products, equipment or facilities, and to always ask for assistance if necessary
- To minimise and report all scrap for any allocated operation
- To operate in a safe and responsible manner with regard to other employees and ensure appropriate PPE is utilised at all times especially within a chemical environment.
- General housekeeping duties, ensuring workspace is kept clean and safe at all times
- To carry out any duty requested by Team Leader/Manager within their capabilities.

Competencies

- Good hand-eye coordination on precision tasks
- Dexterous with good attention to detail
- Speed and accuracy when performing repetitive tasks
- A high level of concentration
- Ability to be flexible and meet deadlines